

SOC 2900: Politics, Economy and Society

Relationships between state and society from a comparative perspective. Focuses primarily on the United States, with frequent references to the experiences of other developed nations as well as those of third world countries.

Credits: 3.0

Program: Sociology