ECE 5400: Applied Machine Learning

Introduction to machine learning models and algorithms; Software techniques such as compression and pruning to enable efficient processing of neural networks. Hardware accelerators for training and inference process. Hardware/software optimization for using machine learning to solve practical problems.

Credits: 3.0
Program: Electrical and Computer Engineering