COM 5000: Communication Research

Reading and designing research in communication through gathering and critically analyzing literature in the field and introduction of the chief methods used in communication studies.

Credits: 3.0
Program: Communication