

MBA 8520: Mgt & Applic of IT

Contemporary information technology (IT) to help managers make business decisions using computer-based information systems: strategic role of information technology in organizations, alternative IT architectures, analysis and design of information systems, risks and opportunities related to IT implementation, and challenges offered by the many new emerging information technologies.

Credits: 3.0