

MAC 8310: Global Financial Markets

Structure and operation of the domestic and international money and capital markets. The foreign exchange and Euro markets, the derivatives market, the determination of domestic and international interest rates, the relationship between interest rates and exchange rates, the role of central banking, and how to manage risk exposure hedging instruments.

Credits: 3.0